NOTES AND COMMENTS.

We note with astonishment that the Government wharves along the line of the new Praya are being constructed in stone and solid, instead of in iron work or wood and open. We admit that probably the stone wharves will present a better appearance and last longer than iron or wood, costing less probably for repairs, but they will certainly and in a comparatively short space of time cause an extensive silting up all along the face of the new sea wall. Projecting at comparatively short intervals into the sea, they will obstruct in a very considerable degree the run of the tidal currents along the face of the wall, and will form a series of small bays within which sand and mud and debris of all descriptions is bound to accumulate and settle. We should have thought that piers supported on iron screw piles would be equally effective, cheaper, and less injurious to the future of the harbour. Will any member of Council at its next meeting ask for an explanation, or perhaps the Daily Press, duly inspired, will clear up our difficulties.

another matter. There ought to be special for some time longer. accommodation for the Kowloon Ferry launches. Either the owners should be permitted to construct a wharf for themselves. or a Government wharf or a portion of fitted for their requirements. There is a large and an ever-growing population at Kowloon and the ferry traffic is increasing daily. The present launches run every ten minutes. New and much larger launches are, we believe, in course of construction. At present the ferry launches having to use the general landing steps are often considerably delayed in coming alongside causing derangement of the service, or the passengers have to scramble backwards and forwards over another launch. If the Company had a wharf of its own or accommodation at a public landing place kept exclusively for its own boats, these delays would not coccur, and arrangements could be made for the separation of the different classes of passengers as at Kowloon. It is not pleasant for well-dressed ladies and children to have to crowd Special terms to HOTELS, CLUBS, MESSES and down the same flight of steps with a number of coal coolies or market coolies carrying provisions. We are afraid that there is very little practical knowledge on the part of the Praya Engineer of the wants of the public and a very great unwillingness to be taught.

THE Committee on the "C.D." Regulations met in Simia on the 6th May. It is (says the Bome, bay Gazette) understood that the rules proposed by the Government of India are based on the principle of general registration of all civil inhabitants of the cantonments, including women, who will thus be on the same basis as other residents. Medical examination in this as to other diseases is to be entirely voluntary, but the refusal to accept it when required is to entail exclusion from the cantonments. The Ir is reported that owing to the prevalence of Rules will not be enforced until they have been sent Home and approved.

> KANG OM, a contractor, of D'Aguilar Street, was charged at the Police Court to-day with dressing granite stones in Praya Central when It could have been done at the quarry without rendering the material liable to damage during transport. Mr. Looker appeared for the defence. Mr. R. K. Leigh gave evidence to the effect that it was usual to fine-dress stones at the works and not at the quarry, and that if they were dressed at the quarry they would most probably be damaged in transport to the works. Mr. T. Grimshaw corroborated. Mr. Wodehouse said that in the light of their evidence that the mere fact of the stones being dressed rendered them liable to injury, he must dismiss the summons and he was of opinion that under these circumstances stone could be dressed at the works instead of the quarry.

MILITARY COURTS-MARTIAL.

BOMBAY, MAY 8th.

THREE "TOUMIES" IN HOT WATER.

Three courts-martial on a single day, and affecting the same regiment, have been held at Secunderahad, writes a correspondent. The first was the case of Pr vate Daugias, Cheshire Re. iment, who performed a successful acrobatic feat by jumping from a mail train in motion between two stations on the Nizam's Railway. The story of his sensational episode has already been written. He was charged with having escaped from lawful custody, being a court-martial prisoner under escort from Be lavy to Se underabad for commitment to the military prison; and, secondly, with having descried Her Majesty's service, in that he, on the 3rd November, 1896, absented himself from the 1st Cheshire Regiment until apprehended by the civil police on the 22nd February, 1897, near Secunderabad, when he was dressed in plain clothes. The court found him guilty of both charges, and sentenced him to be imprisoned with hard labour for one year, and to be discharged with ignominy from Her M's jesty's service. The General Officer Commanding the Secunderabad Division confirmed the sentence as to the imprisonment with hard labour, but reserved sentence as far as it related to discharge with ignomicy for confirmation by superior authority.-Two other soldiers of the Cheshire Regiment were arraigned before the same court-martial, namely, . Privates Smith and Buggs. They were 'charged separately with having broken out of barracks; and, secondly, with being in possession of toddy-pots containing eddy to the prejudice of good conduct and mill tary discipline. Both were sentenced to be Imprisoned with hard, labour for 84 days, and to forfell deferred pay in respect of one year's previous service. The sentences were confirmed. THE PENANG-GIANGSENG COLLISION.

At Singapore on the 16th instant the Court of Enquiry convened to examine into the circumstances which led to the collision between the steamers Glangseng and Penang in the Straits of Rhio on the 28th of April, 1897, terminated. On the court sitting, the President said the conduct of one of the certificated officers had been called in question. Captain Taylor, of the Penang, was the officer who had been so impugned, and he called upon him either to give or produce further evidence if he so desired. Captain Taylor said he did not wish to give further evidence.

Mr. Nanson, on behalf of Captain Follett of the Glangsong, said that after hearing this opinion he did not feel called upon to address the Court, as his client was not impugned. Mr. Ellis, for the owners, said he would not address

Captain Taylor, recalled, was questioned as to the position of his lights at the time of the collision. He sa'd he had passed the necessary examination for colour blindness in 1890, when he passed as master. When he saw the green light of the Giangseng he thought they were going to pass to the starboard of each other, He did not reverse his engines, as he thought i necessary to keep way on the vessel, so as to have command of her.

ENGLAND'S WORK IN APRICA.

A LESSON FOR "LITTLE ENGLANDERS."

At a comparatively recent meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute in London, Lord Loch in the chair, Sir H. H. Johnston read a paper on "England's Work in Central Africa." traced that work from its commencement by the establishment of a colony, and paid a high compliment to missionary enterprise, which he coked upon as the foundation of civilisation in Africa. He contended that the presence of Great Biliain in Africa had been beneficial in the highest degree to the aborigines. He also claimed that the development of the "continent both in moral and material matters was due simost entirely to British influence and activity.

"All the great rivers and lakes of Africa," concluded Sir Harry, "bave been made known to the world mainly by the explorations of British subjects. Englishmen, Irishmen, Scotchmen, or Welshmen first discovered and made an actua fact the existence and approximate dimensions of Lakes Chad, Victoria Nyanza, Tanganyika, Rukws, Nyassa, Chilws, Bangweolo, Mweru, Mantumba, Lake Leopold, Ngami, Lake Tana, and Lake Debu. SIR,-Will you kindly grant me space in which to air a grievance? Not long ago the Senior Unofficial" was rigorously fined for leading his pony on the sidewalk on a very wet night. Well, let me here say that, in common with many others, I would sooner have the company of a dozen decent horses than that of some of the Chinese who frequent Queen's Road. Walking the other day on the northern side of the road from the Clock-tower to Ice-house St. a coolie with a tray on which were a lot of paint pots, bumped against me and spoiled a coat with green paint. My friends say it will be handy for March 17th, batthat's poor consolation. A little further along a Chinese, wearing a monster bamboo hat, turned suddenly from a window into which he had been gaping and the bilm of his headgear grazed and marked the bridge of my nose. After this I had a couple of narrow escapes from being "jabbed" in the face by the poles that the Chinese carry over their shoulders so carclessly, and, generally, I came to the optnion that there is still a big field of usefulness for the police in managing traffic on the sidewalks. These may seem small matters, but they are annoying and unnecessary and are responsible for many a man becoming a "growler" or having, as Mr. Whitehead did. to CRIMINAL JURISDICTION. (Before his Lordship Sir 7. W. Carrington, K.C.M.G. Chief Justice).

MAY TYTH.

THE JERVOIS STREET ARSON CASE.

The hearing of the charge of arron against Wong Lin Kang was resumed this morning. The Atterney-General, Mr. W: M. Goodman. (instructed by the Crown Solicitor) prosecuted and, Mr E. Rabinson (instructed by Mr. V. H. Descon) conducted the defence.

The first witness called to-day was Acting Sergeant Angus MacCaulay, No. 8, foremen of the Fire Bri ade. He reached 99, Tery is St. a few minutes after the slarm was given on April 21st, and found the fire burning fiercely on the ground floor. He then described the finding of two dead Chinese in an upper sorm after the fire had been got under, and he also saw a third body soon after. The room the bodies were in was untouched by fire, but It was full of smoke. The fire appeared to have begun on the ground floor about 8 feet from a partition. This caught the ceiling and, as the linke fell it ignited the whole shop on the ground floor and the staircase. The front of the second floor was burnt by flames coming up and through the windows. Witness next described the finding of kerosine in tins under a bed on the first floor. In another room on the first floor were two beds which appeared to have been left hurriedly. The inmates would have been unable to leave by the staircase when alarmed. There was a rope from a pulley through the smoke hole by which a strong man might have escaped.

His Lordship examined the witness at length regarding the holes in the kerosine tins and how the tins were placed.

Inspector Duncan also gave detailed evidence regarding a large number of exhibits from the premises. Out of 38 jure he examined he only found various quantitles of bird's nest in 16. His evidence concerning the kerosine tins was the same as that given at the Police Court.

Kwong Lin Po. a goods-buyer for Raiss & Co., of the Tal Wo firm, stated that the first floor of 99, Jervols Street was used for a piece goods and anisced oil business and for boarders. The master was Heung Pak Li. Besides the master, there was an accountant and an apprentice; sil three were seen dead by witness on April 21st.

An Indian constable, who was on duty after the fire, depoted that he allowed no one to enter the premises unless by special authority. A woman with whom prisoner lived at Circular Pathway was next examined regarding some letters, supposed to be prisoner's, found at her residence, and handed to the police by her. fire insutance police was amongst the papers. Mr. Robinson objected to the admission of the papers, saying that as the woman was not prisoner's wife, they could only be treated as papers that had come out of the custody of a stranger. It had not, furthermore, been proved by whom the documents had been made, and they might have been placed where found by a third person,

His Lordship said one of the papers was already proved Mr. Robiuson admitted this but said he had strongly objected. The Atlorney-General contended that the papers had come from the custody of prisoners who rented the room in which he lived with the prisoner. He quoted at length from the conspiracy case Regina w. Bernard, in support of the contention that the documents could be admitted. After further discussion His Lordship said he would reserve his decision on the point until a later stage. The witness was then examined at length as to her relations with prisoner, who had kept her for over a month. She used to wash clothes from the shop and took out any letters there were in the pockets and put them in a box. She could not distinguish other clothes from those of prisoner. Sergt. Holt gave evidence as to prisoner's arrest. Mr. C. Lammert gave evidence as to the value of the goods found in the first floor Dr. Swann was also called and said that the death of the three men was caused by asphixia. The Court adjourned till 10.30 a.m. to-morrow.
